The Guide | Margaret River

Words | Matt Preston

“It may come as a surprise to the eastern states, but Margaret River makes a pretty compelling case for being Australia’s best wine region to visit!”

“When some of the bigger wineries come across as grandiose, it’s reassuring to find yourself amongst the human scale of this vineyard with its wide verandahs and playground. The simple, stripped-back food allows the local produce to speak for itself—a dish of veal with porcini and thyme works well with the opulence of their cabernet and cabernet merlot. If the vanilla semifreddo in crisp pastry with kaffir-lime sabayon is on the menu, try it!”
